

Suspects Rounded Up:

Cuban Cops, Army End Attack By Anti-Castros

HAVANA (AP) — Rural police and military authorities were reported Friday to have prevented an attack on a suburban police post by youths who intended to seize arms so they could join anti-Castro forces in the eastern Cuban mountains. Anti-Castro suspects meanwhile were being rounded up in and outside Havana.

The pro-Castro newspaper La Calle said a rural police captain Gerardo Asmendi, learned of the plans for an attack at El Rincón, 15 miles south of Havana. Reinforced patrols intercepted the band and wounded one of the youths and captured four, the paper said.

La Calle quoted Asmendi as saying the band hoped to seize half a dozen Garand rifles and other arms from the police post and then flee to the hills of eastern Cuba where bands of defectors are being banned by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's forces.

At the same time, it was learned

Castro's military intelligence officers were making a sweeping roundup of persons in Havana and elsewhere suspected of being implicated in counterrevolutionary plots.

The number detained was not learned, but one source said it probably would run into the hundreds. Many of those arrested were being released after questioning.

The main target of the roundup appeared to be suspected members of the Movement for Recovery of the Revolution, an anti-Communist organization supposed to be directed from abroad by former Castro officials who have turned against him.

The roundup, it was believed, was intended as a warning against any popular support for MRR, and also to discourage the MRR from giving assistance to the dissidents in the eastern mountains.

So far, these bands are hardly large enough to be classed as an organized rebellion.

Up to now they appear more like pinpricks by people fleeing the revolutionary justice of his courts and his prisons than a "holy war" by counterrevolutionaries.

Some reports say there are three or four groups with a total strength of no more than 200 men. Castro has taken personal command of flushing them out of the mountains; for he certainly can't forget that he himself started his revolution with only about 80 men in the same area.

"Such bands of malcontents or outlaws have always existed in the Sierra Maestra and probably they always will," said one Cuban here. "The thing to watch is whether or not they grow. If one of those bands suddenly expands in strength or activity, then Castro has trouble on his hands."

Predict Fair Weather For Most Of U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau Friday predicted fair weather for most of the country on Easter Sunday with few or scattered showers in certain sections.

A few showers are likely near the northwest coast and in the northern Rockies as well as from Michigan and Illinois into northern New England and in the central Gulf region.

Scattered thundershowers or showers may occur from Tennessee and Kentucky into the middle Atlantic states and the mountains of the Carolinas.

For the rest of the country, the outlook from the weather bulletin unit was: fair or partly cloudy and mild.

Contracts Let On Penn-Can

HARRISBURG (AP) — Five contracts, including one for a section of the Penn-Can Highway in northeastern Pennsylvania, were awarded Friday by the Highways Department.

The Penn-Can Project, the North Scanton Traffic Circle, was awarded to the Central Pennsylvania Quarry, Stripping and Construction Co., Hazleton, on a bid of $1,742,549. It involves a 1.94-mile section, including three bridges, ramps and service roads. The federal government will pay 80 per cent of the cost. The Penn-Can Highway is part of the federal interstate system.

Pickets Thick Around White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The pickets were so thick around the White House Friday there was scarcely any room for the tourists.

Students protesting against racial segregation in the South found themselves segregated by police from pickets who are against nerve gas.

The two groups divided the sidewalk space in front of 1500 Pennsylvania Avenue for their slow-moving, sign-carrying queues.

In between them a solo picket marched in a very small circle. His sign said he opposes celestial annexations.

There wasn't room for another queue, but a new batch of demonstrators arrived. This group says it opposes paying taxes for war. They had carried signs Friday morning in front of the Internal Revenue Service, although IRS Commissioner Dana Latham is out of town.

Good Morning!

Rev. Parke Gives Talk To Kiwanis

REV. CHARLES A. Parke, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, gave the following Easter message before the Kiwanis Club of the Stroudsburgs:

When the Eternal Son of God was made Man, He identified Himself completely with us, so that you might say He knows our life from the inside out. Certainly He experienced its joys and pleasures, and most certainly He experienced its seamer side. There are millions of refugees in the world today, yet He was but an infant when His family had to flee from Bethlehem into Egypt to escape a night raid by the police.

He grew up under an absolute dictatorship in an occupied country, without a shred of political freedom. He knew the bitterness of failure and unpopularity.

Even His own family misunderstood Him at one point, at least, and tried to dissuade Him from doing what He knew His Father willed. He had to put up with weak friends who when He most needed them could not stay awake, denied Him, and fled, and who, even in better times quarreled among themselves as to who would have the place of honor.

He knew betrayal by one on whom He depended, betrayal by the most brilliant and able of His associates. He knew personal grief at the deaths of Joseph, His foster father, and of Lazarus His friend, and grief over the future doom of Jerusalem. He knew fear in His spiritual agony in Gethsemane.

He knew gross injustice and ridicule and humiliation in His trial. In His beating and crucifixion He knew the most terrible suffering imaginable. And for a time on the Cross He plumed the absolute deaths of despair.

What terrible abyss opened in the uncreated Being and Trinity of God, that God should cry out to God "Why hast Thou Forsaken Me?"

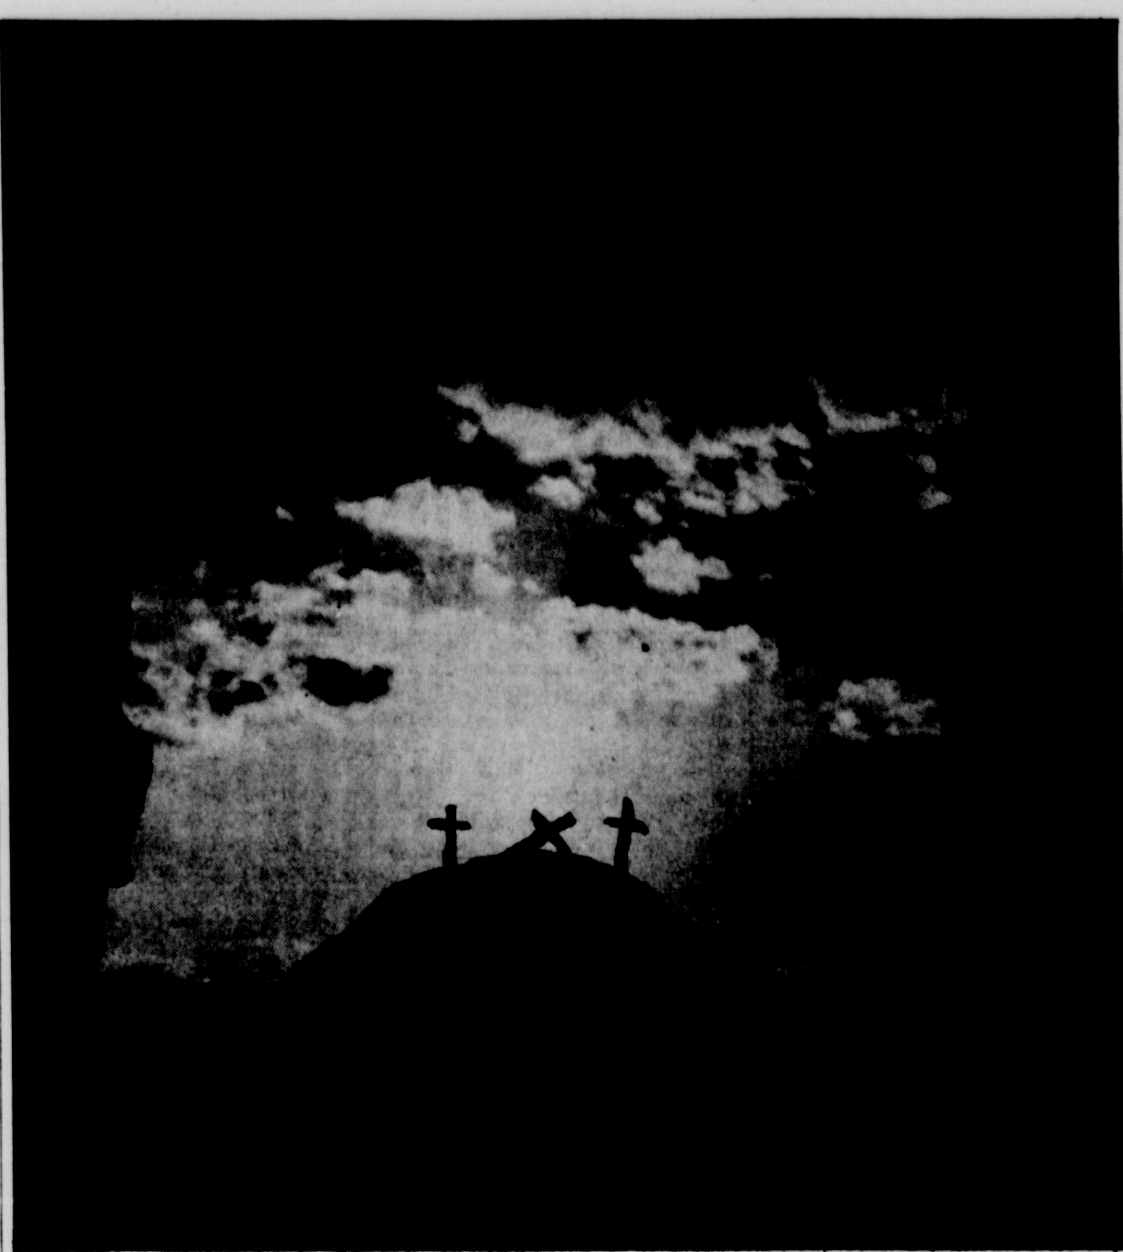

He knew death, and to Him who is the Life of all lives that must have been an experience of peculiar honor and revulsion.

Yet He experienced all these things for us, taking on His sinless self, that knew no guilt, all the consequences of our sins, our greediness, envyings, lusts, gluttony, rages, self-centeredness, and laziness. The evil and fury of the world rose up around Him and smashed against Him as a giant wave breaks against a lonely light-house.

The world hurt Him far more than it has ever hurt any of us. It did its worst to Him and lost. In mankind's weakness and extremity God won.

By His living and dying He offered humanity as a sacrifice to the Father. The sacrifice was accepted. And by His rising from the dead He raised humanity to a new level and quality of life.

He recreated mankind, and set us on a new road. We are indeed in the springtime of our (Please Turn To Page Five)

Fair Weather Predicted:

Easter Sunday To Be Noted Tomorrow By County

EASTER SUNDAY with its joyous worship services, its displays of Spring finery and its colored and colorful eggs, will be observed by Monroe County residents today.

Summerlike weather of the past two days is expected to swell church attendance, always at a high point at this time of the year. Traffic through the Stroudsburgs was heavy yesterday as hundreds of families began the trek to hometowns for reunions.

The story of the Resurrection of Christ after his long, painful death on the cross will be told from the pulpits of all churches. The joyous strains of "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" will be heard throughout the county.

Easter is celebrated on the first Sunday after the first full moon following the Spring equinox. The date was established by the Council of Nicaea in 325 after a long controversy over the proper date in the early days of the Christian church.

The name of the feast, according to the Venerable Bede, comes from Eostre, a Teutonic goddess whose festival was celebrated in the Spring.

Her name was given to the Christian festival in celebration of the Resurrection. Eostre it was who, according to the legend, opened the portals of Valhalla to receive Baldr, called the White God, because of his purity and also the Sun God, because his brow supplied light to mankind.

Gun-Toter Threatens Publisher Over Article

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A husky laborer clad in ragged overalls fired a shot at a newspaper publisher Friday and held him at gunpoint in an attempt to get a religious article printed in the paper.

C. V. Rowland, 58, publisher of the Lewistown Sentinel, was held for 45 minutes before police broke into the room, quickly overpowered the worker and took him to jail.

Rowland quoted Charles Lynch, 37, a brick plant worker, as say-

Czechs Agree To Sell Cuba Jet Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — French diplomats reported Friday night that Communist Czechoslovakia has agreed to sell Cuba some Soviet-built MIG jet fighters.

The State Department said it had no information on any such Cuban-Czech deal. The United States has banned weapons shipments to the Caribbean area for two years.

Perfect Orbit Achieved By Polar Shot

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Discoverer XI rocketed into polar orbit Friday, carrying a capsule which planes will try to snatch from the air Saturday as it descends near Hawaii.

Air Force officers said the 19-foot-long satellite achieved an almost perfect orbit, circling the earth's poles once every 92 minutes.

At the closest point, the 1,700-pound satellite will be 109 miles from the earth, at its farthest, 380 miles.

The capsule—a 300-pound package of instruments sampling the conditions man will meet when he first goes into space—is to be ejected Saturday on the Satellite's 17th trip around the earth.

A squadron of C119 Flying Boxcars, trailing the trapeze-like devices beneath their fuselages, will be waiting aloft as the capsule parachutes down.

Starting at about 40,000 feet, each plane is expected to have 10 chances to drape the chute over its trapeze. If the maneuver is successful, the chute and capsule will be reeled into the plane.

Should the air recovery fail, surface ships will be waiting in the area to fish the floating capsule from the water.

Six of the 10 previous satellites of the Discoverer series have achieved orbit, and five of them carried capsules. But for various technical reasons, recovery has never been achieved.

Friday's rocket, boosted by a Douglas Thor intermediate-range missile, shot aloft at 12:31 p.m. Pacific Standard Time.

The Lockheed Agena second stage ignited a few minutes later, then streaked south to begin whirling around the earth's poles.

The capsule of Discoverer XI contains only instruments. Later capsules are to carry monkeys.

Success in recovering the capsule would mean a major first for the United States' space efforts. Nose cones and capsules containing animals have been rocketed into space and recovered, but none has been recovered from orbit.

Space scientists say that learning how to get an object back from orbit is vital to Project Mercury, the main-in-space plan.

Daily Lenten Meditation

Read I Timothy 1:12-17
This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief. (Timothy 1:15)

The story has been told of a soldier who had been in prison two years. Some of his buddies came into his cell to announce that he was free. He announced that he was free. He announced that he was free. He announced that he was free.

There is hope for the sinner who is convinced of his state of imperfection before God and tries to throw off the weight of sin. Realizing the shamefulness of his condition, he is overjoyed to find someone to help him solve his problem.

Yes, there is a solution. What is it? Pardon. How can one obtain it? As sin is a reality in every human being, Christ suffered death on the cross to save those who would follow Him. But will Christ receive a vile sinner? Yes, indeed! His great mission was to seek and to save the lost.

Prayer: God of eternal mercy, how terrible is sin in the presence of Thy righteousness! But how intense is Thy love for the sinner! We thank Thee that with Thee is plenteous mercy, that Thou dost delight in forgiveness. Help us to follow Thee and bear our cross for Thee each day. In the name of Christ. Amen.

Thought For The Day
Every sin is pardonable when Christ is the mediator.

The Monticello Story:

No Comparison Between Sullivan, Monroe

EDITOR'S NOTE — Last of a series of articles on the effect of pari-mutuel harness racing at Monticello, N. Y., and surrounding communities in Sullivan County.

By Bob Clark

Daily Record City Editor

COMPARING Monticello with Stroudsburg or East Stroudsburg or even comparing Sullivan County, New York, and Monroe, Pennsylvania, is like trying to match a Cadillac and a Jeep. It just is impossible.

While we here in the Pocono Mountains rank our territory with the tops in resort business it is a far cry from the vacationland of the Catskills. They have for instance a hotel (Concord) which has a 2,400-seat dining room, larger than any we can boast of in this terrain.

It is a darn big business up there, through and through.

The Catskills doesn't have any other industry of note where we have a score of plants which lend a terrific help to our economy.

How then would one know whether a pari-mutuel harness racing would survive here as it apparently has in Monticello?

Statistics show that Monticello has reaped some harvest from a racetrack at its door. But statistics also prove that the towns and villages in a 20-mile or better radius from the racetrack have suffered financially from the activity at the racetrack.

Another version however, came from Joseph Grubs, president of the Sullivan County Trust Co., who said "The track has been good for Monticello, provided additional payroll and, as far as I know personally, has made no people destitute."

He pointed out that the area is accustomed to an influx of strangers and "money from these people has added to the economy of the village. In addition, he pointed to added tax revenue for village, township and county as an asset.

Touched Homes

Gambling also touched homes tragically in Monticello, especially where the small man so to speak resided. He was the one who couldn't "afford" to plunge in the wagering field.

The holiday seekers of Monticello went to the track to spend some money and thereby never gave it a thought if they won or lost. Although the winner did get more relief, mentally, it was pointed out in one of our many interviews with citizens there.

Ed Berman, the ex-Chamber of Commerce head said to us, "Let's face it there is never a victor in gambling over the long haul. Show me a winner and I'll show you 10 losers," he analyzed.

But this is not the general thinking of most Monticellians who note that harness racing is a sport and the pari-mutuel end of it is just part of the over-all excitement of "a day at the races."

Business-wise the track, from its own operation through its outlets, leaves money in the area. But on the other hand, losses have risen and welfare cases are more predominant than before.

Short-Working

People of the New York State area will counter that this is a short-working vicinity of four months a year with the exception of a few hotels which cater to winter trade. They also point out that business in general across the country are up in many states, let alone villages. They do not feel—the majority—that the track siphoned the funds of those now in distress.

They do, however, feel that a track in Monroe—with its many third class citizens would do more harm than good.

Monroe Countians are fortunate in one respect in that they get the opportunity to vote on the pari-mutuel issue. Monticello and the rest of Sullivan County were handed the track and told "now it's your baby make the best of it."

A summation of ethics revealed a small tendency to lean toward lower morals but this was negligible when you consider juvenile delinquency and other facets of this nature were no real problem in Monticello and its neighbors.

Also Monticello and its neighbor are not the chief supporters of the racetrack. If they were the track would have been out of business shortly after its start.

From Other Points

The racetrack gets its paying customers from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and other sections of New York State.

The Poconos, if a track was realized — thus would have to derive its cash customers from say, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, and coal regions in general, plus Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton. What effect an invasion of these people would have on our communities only time will tell.

Another outlook taken by Monticellians was that the money brought to their area was either left at the track — it has its own eating and drinking establishment—besides betting windows — to the destination where the folks migrated from.

Summing up it appears on the surface that there are two different communities being compared. One is strictly a three- to four-month mammoth holiday resort, while the other (Poconos) has a much smaller vacation business, sandwiched between a healthy 12-month industrial program.

Serves Its Purpose

The pari-mutuel racetrack at Monticello serves its purpose to the resort man there. It is a means of entertainment, one of many extras offered the invading holiday seekers.

Would the answer be the same here in the Mountains or would it bring repercussions much more harmful than those which tended to weed its way into Monticello.

Unlike brother Monticello and Sullivan County, Monroe Countians have the chance to answer this to their own liking and conscience in the Primary Election on April 26.

Guest Speaker Sunday

Bullock Will Give Talk

ROBERT Bullock, director of Monroe County Youth For Christ, will be the guest speaker at the youth-sponsored Easter Sunrise Service of the Middle Smithfield - Shawnee Presbyterian parish.

Attendance Goal Is Set

EASTER SUNDAY will afford the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church a day for great rejoicing and for great efforts toward Christian goals. In the Church School at 9:30 a.m., a goal has been set for 1,000 in attendance.

The Easter morning worship service is the occasion for the presentation of a number of memorials. More than 150 Easter lilies will be given in memory of loved ones. The Decorations Committee was at work last night to prepare a replica of the tomb and the garden where Jesus lay. In this service recognition will be given to a number of other memorials.

All choirs will join in the procession with the singing of the Easter hymn after a brief but impelling dramatization of the Easter morning victory. Those participating are: Angel, Sylvia Dallmayer; Mary Magdalene, Lois Cramer; Mary, wife of Cleopas, Mrs. John Ferrebee; and Salome, Mrs. Stephen Balick and the reader, Carl Secor.

The pastor, Rev. Harold C. Eaton, will preach on the Easter theme, "Morning At Last." At 3 p.m. the Sacrament of Christian Baptism will be administered to infants, children and adults.

For the 27th year the Rose Service will become the climactic service of the day. In this service all classes and organizations present their Easter gift and hundreds of the members of the congregation give sacrificially toward the Easter offering goal. Again all choirs will participate. A dramatization in reading and music of the fact of the resurrection will be presented. Robert Caramella will be the narrator.

Kirkridge Set For Sunrise Services

EASTER services will begin at the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg with a Sunrise Service at Kirkridge. This service, to be held jointly with the Stroudsburg Methodist Church, is especially for the youth of both churches.

Rev. Ross Nicholson of the Methodist Church will preach. Following the service breakfast will be served at the retreat center.

The regular worship services will be held in the church sanctuary with the pastor, the Rev. John A. Bolliger, preaching on the topic, "The Power of the Resurrection."

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Wolbert, will sing an anthem, and the WF Girls will sing an anthem under the direction of Mrs. Wolbert. A nursery and kindergarten will be held.

The Board of Deacons has purchased flowers for the shut-ins of the church. These will be arranged in the sanctuary for the two services and will then be distributed by the deacons in the afternoon.

At 9:45 the Church School will meet with classes for children two years old and above, for young people and for adults.

A Youth Fellowship Hour at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by services at 7:30 p.m. at which a film, "Reason For Being," will be shown. Miss Karen Jones, organist, and H. M. Reeves, Jr., violinist, will provide music.

Other events next week: Monday, 7 p.m., Boy Scouts, 7 p.m., Girl Scouts; Tuesday, 4 p.m., Brownies; 7:30 p.m., Young Ladies' Bible Class, 7:30 p.m., Community Orchestra rehearsal in parsonage; Wednesday, 6:30 p.m., combined youth-boys' choir rehearsal; Thursday, 6:30 p.m., children's choir, girl's choir, 8 p.m., senior choir.

Moravians

Prepare For Easter

A 200-YEAR-OLD Moravian Church tradition will be perpetuated as the Easter Sunrise Service is held in Canadensis Moravian Church tomorrow at 5:15 a.m.

After praying together the special Easter Dawn liturgy, which is a confession of faith in the Triune God, the congregation will be led by the pastor, Rev. Charles W. Eichman, to the Seese Hill Cemetery where the service will be completed.

The cemetery portion of the service will be preceded by a prelude of Moravian chorales played by a brass quartet. After the service worshippers will return to the church to enjoy a cup of coffee and Moravian sugar cake, served by a committee of ladies.

The Sunday Church School will present its Easter program at 9:45 a.m. under the direction of Superintendent S. Robert Mikels. Several instrumental and vocal numbers will feature the program as well as an Easter story on the flannelgraph board told by Mrs. Joseph Mikels.

Complete Series

At the regular morning service Pastor Eichman will complete his series of messages on "Names of Jesus" as he speaks on "The Church's Living Head." The Junior Choir and Senior Choir will each sing an appropriate Easter anthem and Rev. Eichman will sing "The Holy City"—Weatherly.

The service at Romeville Moravian Church near Promised Land State Park will be conducted by the pastor at 2 p.m.

Fellowship To Meet

The intermediate youth fellowship will hold its meeting in the church social room at 7 p.m. with Mr. and Mrs. James Heckman as advisors.

The Ladies' Guild will meet in the parsonage on Monday at 8 p.m., with Mrs. Charles Eichman as chairwoman.

On Wednesday, the Berean meetings will be resumed at 7:30 p.m.

Adventists Set Sabbath Services

"HE SHALL Save His People," will be the title of Elder Milton T. Reiber's sermon for Sabbath morning worship at 9:30 today at the Seventh-day Adventist Church. His text will be the words of our Lord as recorded in St. John 12:32, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me."

Reiber said, "God tells us that He has drawn us with everlasting love. That love was personified in Jesus Christ. Unless origin of Easter and will use to Jesus, and salvation." During his message the pastor will relate his findings as to the origin of Easter end will use excerpts from a paper he prepared while at theological seminary.

The choir will be under the direction of Thomas Foulkes, with Mrs. Leslie Drake as accompanist.

Sabbath School classes for all age groups will begin at 10:45. The adult lesson entitled, "The Sacrificial System Restored," will note the return of Israel to Jerusalem after the seventy year captivity in Babylon and the reinstatement of the offerings and feasts in connection with the sanctuary services, the actual laying of the foundation for the temple and the mixed reactions of the people.

Study help for these lessons is the book "Prophecy and Kings."

Mrs. Elmer Londer will bring a mission report from Joaquim Morgado, director, Munguluni Mission in Mozambique. She will tell of the development in the past two years of a school for 300 pupils, a small hospital and a dormitory for boys. The desperate need of adequate water and necessary machinery for its distribution to aid the Christian work there will be told to the assembled classes. A special offering will be taken at the end of this quarter to help supply this need.

Sunday School Lesson:

Youth Of Resurrection

By Newman Campbell

THE REV. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith begins his commentary on today's lesson by writing: "The title given to this lesson is an interesting one, 'Children of the Resurrection.' It would not be surprising if many readers of this volume have forgotten that this is actually a phrase found in the New Testament, in Luke 20:36."

He also writes: "The events recorded in the passage taken from Mark's Gospel occurred outside the walls of Jerusalem. Colosse was a city in the Roman province of Asia."

"And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had brought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint Him. And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun." — Mark 16:1-2.

As they walked toward the tomb they were worried and talked among themselves. "Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?" they asked.

And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away; for it was very great. And when the three women entered the tomb, instead of the body of the Lord, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: He is risen; He is not here: behold the place where they had laid Him."

He told them to go and "tell His disciples and Peter that He goeth before you into Galilee: there shall ye see Him, as He said unto thee." — Mark 16:3-7.

"And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed; neither said they any thing to any man: for they were afraid." — Mark 16:8.

Christ appeared to Mary Magdalene. "And she went and told them that were with Him, as they mourned and wept. And they, when they had heard that He was alive, and had been seen of her believed not." — Mark 16:9-11.

After that He appeared to two who were walking into the country, and they told the disciples, who did not believe them either. — Mark 16:12-13.

"Afterward He appeared to the 11 as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen Him after He was risen." — Mark 16:14.

"If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth." — Colossians 3:1-2.

The Rev. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith ends his commentary on the lesson by writing that "we are living in an hour of moral decline."

We feel that may be so when we read in our newspapers of crimes committed by youths of both sexes.

But was there ever a time when so many devoted people sent food to the hungry and clothes for the destitute of our world?

There are still more upright people in our world than evil ones. Let us thank the good Lord for them, and strive always to live righteously ourselves.

ON A DESOLATE HILL

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	19	23-42
Monday	John	20	1-25
Tuesday	Psalms	102	1-12
Wednesday	Matthew	14	22-33
Thursday	Psalms	119	169-176
Friday	John	13	31-38
Saturday	Luke	24	13-53

It is not strange that someone chose this lonely spot to erect a reverent memorial. It was on a desolate hill that three crosses stood many centuries ago . . . the Cross of the Saviour . . . and of the penitent . . . and of the scoffer.

Always these crosses have seemed to belong to the desolate hills of life. When a man feels the crushing burden of worldly care upon him, when he trudges the steep trail lost and alone — then, either he will claim the Love and Strength of Christ as did the penitent, or like the scoffer he will let his unbelief destroy his soul.

But no man should wait for a time of desolation to make life's most joyous decision. It can be made today . . . and sealed with years of happy service in the church of one's choice.

Public's Right To Know

The Governor's Committee on Education has run into a thorny public relations problem that springs from that familiar old puzzle:

How much of the proceedings of a body of this type should be public information?

The situation as it now stands demands perspective. It demands more of a reasoned approach, for instance, than Governor Lawrence displayed when he was questioned on this matter at his press conference. Said the Governor:

"This is a committee to study the school setup and not to study it out on the curbstone, but to study it in their meetings and to get the pro and con of everybody concerned there and not to have it debated like you might on the floor of the House."

As a defense of the position that a committee of this type does need time for frank discussion without the glare of the public spotlight, this answer is fine.

But it does not fully answer the question. The key question is not whether the public should be given a blow-by-blow account of everything that goes on in the work sessions of all the task forces and the full committee itself. It is whether the public, in order to understand as fully as possible what is going on, should be informed as the issues are debated and the facts weighed.

The citizens of this Commonwealth are entitled to know what, in detail, the committee will be considering, even if they are not told what each and every member says around the discussion table. They should be given the statistical data, both educational and financial, that the committee will use as measuring sticks. They should be allowed full access to all hearings and also access, through press interview, to the individual committee members, who are now under "don't talk" orders.

Will the public get all this? It's hardly likely if there is a continuation of the attitude that dominated the committee's first meeting.

"You will be pestered by reporters," Dr. Robert A. Christie, executive director of the group, told the newly gathered members. "The Governor feels that if we all go off talking to the press, we will only have a donnybrook."

Dr. Christie handed each committee member an elaborately prepared loose-leaf book filled with instructions and statistics. He told them the book was to be kept secret. He also cautioned them that all information to be made public should come in the form of press releases cleared through the Governor's office.

Here is a study for which $300,000 in public funds has been made available. For this reason alone the public has every right to deplore this "gunshy" public disclosure approach.

One reason Dr. Christie used to justify running scared of public opinion was the touchiness of the two big subjects involved, "children and taxation." Yet this is the biggest reason of all why the Governor and his committee should strive to keep the public completely informed over and beyond the carefully controlled press agency of the mimeograph machine.

Certainly, the committee should have time to deliberate and debate the countless questions that will come before it. But the public should be deliberating and debating the same questions, too. This cannot happen if the official attitude is, in effect, that what the people don't know won't hurt them. Full awareness and understanding can't come to pass if all the information the people get is carefully filtered through government office handouts.

Not the least of the reasons why public education and its financing is in a mess in Pennsylvania lies in the failure of public bodies, from state to local school boards, to keep the public adequately informed. The Governor's committee would do well to avoid the same mistake.

The best way to start a rip-roaring controversy is to be afraid of one.

Reports From Congress

Federal Grants At Peak

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington — Federal payments to state and local governments hit an all-time high in fiscal 1959.

Latest Treasury Department figures show that the Federal Government paid out $6.5 billion for federal-state programs like highway building and Social Security. According to Congressional Quarterly tabulations, this was more than double the amount paid out to state and local governments in the first year of the Eisenhower Administration and nearly triple the average for the last four years of the Truman Administration.

12 Cents on the Dollar — An additional $3.1 billion was paid out in 1959 to groups and individuals, in the form of farm subsidies, National Guard payments and the like, making a grand total of nearly $9.6 billion, almost double the 1949-52 Truman average.

President Eisenhower frequently has voiced his desire to have more federal programs, taken over by the states, but the pleas usually fall on deaf ears in Congress and among state officials who already have their share of financial headaches. Increasing population, apparent Congressional sentiment in favor of increased payments in such fields as highways, Social Security and education, and other factors including inflation, point to a continuing upward trend in federal grant assistance.

Tax Collection: Federal tax collections for 1959 were just under $80 billion, so the $6.5 billion paid out in grants represented a return to the states of about 12 cents on every dollar collected. The other 88 cents, of course, went to federal items like defense. The amount returned to states and individuals was a higher percentage of the tax pie than in previous years, due in part to the increase in federal highway spending.

Pennsylvania in fiscal 1959 received a total of $489,158,000 in grants and paid the Federal Government $539,798,000 in taxes. This placed it fourth among the states in grants and fourth in tax payments.

Pennsylvania accounted for 6.7 percent of the total U.S. taxes and got back 5.1 percent of the grants.

Pennsylvania's grants amounted to $43 a person, compared to a high of $226 for Alaska and a low of $29 for New Jersey.

No state got more in grants than it paid in taxes. Alaska and Mississippi came closest. Alaska got $43.2 million in grants and paid out $193.1 million in taxes.

California ranked first in dollar grants received and second in taxes paid. New York ranked first in tax payments and second in grants. Delaware ranked 50th in grants and 26th in taxes, the biggest gap in the rankings.

Comparison of grants and taxes is not always reliable, since tax collection procedures distort the picture of some states. North Carolina, for example, is credited with an extra $1 billion in tax payments because it is the collection point for most of the federal cigarette tax. Michigan and Kentucky, also collected points, account for about $1.1 billion and $500 million respectively in automobile and whiskey taxes. The District of Columbia is excluded from rankings, since its federal taxes are paid through Maryland.

Our State's Participation: More than 100 different programs were included in fiscal 1959 federal payments to states and individuals, but nine of them accounted for 73 percent of the total. The nine programs, and the amount of money Pennsylvania received under them in fiscal 1959, were: highways, $127,422,163; old age assistance, $25,869,874; soil bank payments, $4,178,841; aid to dependent children, $47,402,649; Air Force National Guard, $4,219,315; Army National Guard, $13,657,928; veterans' readjustment benefits, $32,848,775; temporary unemployment compensation, $75,108,808; unemployment compensation, $21,946,189.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Party Conventions

The two political parties are not associations in the sense that members attend them and vote as individuals. They are bodies of delegations, chosen by various devices, each state determining the method of selection. Some delegations vote as a body (the unit rule); other delegations are bound, for a number of ballots, to be faithful to a particular candidate; other delegations are uninstructed.

Those who attend conventions as delegates are not the greatest men in a particular party—most of those who sit on the platform or in boxes.

The delegates are usually party hacks, locally chosen by political leaders, either because of their services to the local party organizations or because of their contributions to the party.

It is very rare for a delegate to be independent of his party leaders. Whenever a leader wants to, he calls a caucus and there any independent ideas which may beset a delegate are driven out of his mind. It has often been suggested, but the idea has never been permitted to go far, that voting for candidates in the convention be done by a secret ballot.

We elect presidents, governors, members of Congress, almost everybody by a secret ballot but at conventions a delegation is voted in public or when each delegate is polled, as it is called, it is by a viva voce vote. That is, the delegate gets up and shouts his vote—nowadays over a microphone.

A secret ballot would change the nature of the convention. In the first place, the favorite son gimmick which is a waste of time would probably disappear.

The favorite son gimmick has two functions: one, it advertises a governor or a senator to the nation and it might possibly give such a person a chance to run for vice president, although that is not too likely; the other function of this device is that it gives the leadership of a particular delegation an opportunity to bargain for deals.

It will be recalled that in the 1952 Republican Convention Sen. Robert A. Taft and General Eisenhower were contesting for the nomination, the California delegation, pledged to Gov. Earl Warren, was known to have decided to hold out to the bitter end for Warren.

At one period of the convention, before the actual voting started, it looked as though Warren held the balance of power and he was being imported by both sides not to vote for the other. As an instance of captive delegations, reference can be made to Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania, now forgotten politically, who was presumed to control 30 votes which both sides were seeking. The governor himself could not be found. He had made his bargain, whatever it was.

The secret ballot would obviate all this. The candidate would be lined up in voting machines and the delegates would vote and the highest man would win. The delegates could then go home and the Bosses would probably drop dead.

Another thing about conventions is the long argument about the platform. These are enormous documents, running to 10,000 or more words, covering every detail of the political, social and economic life of the nation.

The platform is usually drawn up by a committee of one representative from each state. Few who serve on such committees know what they are doing. There are subcommittees and some of them hire experts.

The platforms are badly written and badly edited documents. I have recently gone over about a dozen of them, covering a long period in our history. On the whole, they are worthless documents, unreasonably drawn, incapable of being implemented, couched in uninspired language.

Would it not be simpler if each party drew up a broad statement of principles, say a 1,000 or 1,500-word document, cogently prepared, sharply defined, inspirationally stated—a document which could be a guiding light to its followers?

Perhaps it is too much to ask the political parties to take their platforms seriously. If one wants to see how far a politician moves from his platform, it is only necessary to read the Democratic platform of 1932 on which Franklin D. Roosevelt ran.

It preached economy; he entered upon a career of spending such as we had never before witnessed. In fact, not an item of that platform related to the New Deal.

Candidates Gain Small Comfort

Washington — None of the contestants got much comfort out of the Wisconsin presidential primary election early this month, and none of them are apt to get much more out of the West Virginia primary on May 10.

More and more, the public is realizing the truth of Harry S. Truman's statement that primaries are "eye wash." What Mr. Truman meant and what has proved to be the fact on many occasions is that the procedure of candidates entering selected primary elections, each of which has its own peculiarities, is inconclusive as far as determining public preferences.

A national primary would be a different thing. Under such conditions, the mass of public voters would be able to indicate their preference for presidential candidates on both major party tickets. Further, they would be able to express, even if indirectly, significant public reactions to current issues and policies.

One of the shortcomings of the conduct of national affairs is that once elected, a President and his party tend to be frozen into a set of policies for four years without sufficient regard for changed conditions or changed public opinion.

A national primary would give a President some indication of the public mood during the last year of his administration and would provide valuable time to begin to shift to popular views.

Even if the President and his party should be thrown out of power in the next election, there is a good chance that some changes would be in the process of being made and therefore could be completed by a new administration with less shock to the economy and the public.

In this context, Wisconsin did serve a purpose. It showed that the farm issue is very much a part of voters' thinking, at least in the Midwest. It also served as a warning to Vice President Richard M. Nixon to step up his pre-convention campaigning.

Cuba: Soviet Outpost

Provoked a break in official relations with the U.S.

Bring Cuba wholly within the Soviet orbit by making it a military, as well as an economic and propaganda, Western Hemisphere outpost of the Kremlin.

A grim instance of the latter is that Castro has begun construction of a submarine base, and is obtaining from Cuban technicians to complete this secret project. Also, as this column previously reported, he has bought a number of MIG jet fighters from Czechoslovakia, which is providing a mission to train the necessary pilots and mechanics.

At the core of Castro's two menacing policies are the same controlling factors: The steady deterioration of economic and political conditions in Cuba, as graphically evidenced by almost daily defections, and outright armed revolt in Oriente Province; and the now quite open Communist control of his inner ruling clique.

It is this somber background that is the reason for this country's markedly stiffened attitude. Other forceful moves are contemplated.

That was disclosed by Assistant Secretary of State William Macomber in private talks with congressional leaders. He told them, "On the basis of what we now positively know, the Castro regime is 90 percent Communist and has passed the point of no return."

Also revealed by Macomber is that Ambassador Philip Bonsal, since returning to Havana, has "gotten absolutely nowhere" in his efforts to discuss problems. He still has not been able to arrange a personal talk with Premier Castro.

Fateful Plans — As explained by Assistant Secretary Macomber to the congressional leaders, President Eisenhower and his top advisers have definitely agreed on a sterner policy toward Castro.

They have decided the Cuban dictator and his Red henchmen are deliberately bent in "hurting the U.S." and must be firmly dealt with on that basis.

Still undetermined are specific counter measures. Under consideration by the National Security Council, top policy-making agency, are three far-reaching State Department plans, as follows:

Plan I: The U.S. to give indirect aid to individuals and groups in Cuba to oust Castro. These forces include important labor elements and the Catholic Church. Initially, this assistance would be in the form of official pronouncements against the Castro regime, such as the President's sharply critical letter to the Chilean Student Federation, that was widely published throughout Latin America.

Plan II: Summon the Castro regime before the Organization of American States, using for this purpose the so-called Caracas Resolution of 1954. Under this agreement, an OAS member that "comes under the domination of international Communism" is subject to "appropriate action" by the others. Such "appropriate action" could take the form of an OAS expeditionary force to eliminate Castro and his Communist-dominated regime.

Plan III: Unilateral U.S. military measures to protect its nationals and the strategic naval base at Guantanamo. This proposal was labeled by Macomber as a "last resort," to which reluctant recourse may become necessary in the event of a new civil war and Castro and his Communist henchmen resume mass killings, as they did after coming into power in January 1959.

It was made clear by Macomber, in his private talks with congressional leaders, that any hostile moves against Guantanamo will be quickly and forcefully resisted.

Leaders of the Senate and House Appropriations Committees have assured the State Department of "emergency funds" to evacuate U.S. citizens if that becomes necessary. Both the State Department and Pentagon have prepared detailed plans for this possibility, in the event of an official break with Castro regime.

Social Whirl — The French embassy is one of the most beautiful in Washington, but that isn't satisfying Ambassador Hervé Alphand for the impending visit of General and Madame de Gaulle. The embassy is undergoing extensive redecorating, most important of which is the dining room.

Its walls have been covered with seven art treasures from the Petit Trianon palace. They are painted wooden panels of the 18th century. There is also a new green-and-beige Aubusson carpet that harmonizes with these exquisite panels. The large embassy kitchen is also being refurbished, with new electrical equipment and an enlarged dumb-waiter.

Mrs. Eisenhower's favorite in the White House is the Red Room. She explained this preference to friends as due to the fact that "it was in the Red Room that we held our first reception, and there is always something special about a first."

When Mrs. Merriweather Post Hutton Davies May, multi-millionaire "society queen," entertains, it is always on a grand scale. Latest instance of that was her birthday 22 coeds and two chaperones from a Long Island school, named after her father, to Washington for a weekend of sightseeing and partying.

The large group was flown to the Capital in Mrs. May's private jet-prop plane, and toured about Washington and nearby historic places in a fleet of cars. Mrs. May also arranged for her guests a "private visit to the White House," a rare privilege.

Tag Day Successful

It is always great to find that you are well thought of. We, the members of the Music Parents Committee, know that is how the band members must feel as they tabulate the receipts of their most successful Tag Day. All the friends of the Stroud Union High School Band showed their appreciation to the amount of $605.

We want to thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Public, for your "Pat on the Back". As you have shown that you have pride in the band, they can now have pride in themselves as they do their uniforms and participate in civic events at your beck and call.

Now, incidentally, if you feel that you have been "let out" by not having been contacted by a band member, (they come in limited numbers), feel free to send your contribution to

Mr. John Pyle, or attend the band concert to be held at the High School on May 6 or you can purchase a booster ticket from any member of the Music Parents Organization.

The support of the Tag Day has not only boosted the morale of the band, but also the morale of the supervisor of the Music Department, Mr. Numa Snyder and the band's director, Mr. John Pyle.

We would like to also thank Mr. Jack Hill and the staff of The Daily Record, Mrs. Madalyn Maloney, the Wyckoff Shopper, Mrs. Sally Ferrebeck, the staff of WVPO and Mr. Joseph Small.

Mrs. Robert Williams, for the Stroud Union High School Band Tag Day Committee.

Enjoyed By Thousands

After reading a statement of policy from the Citizens Committee to Defeat Race Track Gambling, as they call it, I'd like to say harness racing is enjoyed by thousands of people and it's a real pleasure to think that it may come to Monroe County, Pa.

I personally know that we need no doctors, merchants or ministers to tell us how to spend our money. Looking back over the years, I've seen gambling, slot machines, full of money, and these one-armed bandits flourished right on Main St. in Stroudsburg.

Wake up, folks, and vote "yes" for harness racing betting April 26. Thank you, voters. A lover of horses,

MRS. IDA M. GOWER

Editor Daily Record: May I point out to your readers that today the most distinguished patron (in this instance, patroness) of race tracks, racing and horse breeding is H. M., the Queen, Elizabeth II? Her father and mother, grandfather and great-grandfather, were like-minded.

Without mentioning present-day prominent Americans a few names from our not too distant past will emphasize the character of the men supporting horse racing: James R. Keene, August Belmont, Alfred Vanderbilt, Sr., William Woodward and Harry Payne Whitney.

Of course it is undesirable to have racing controlled by gangsters. With proper regulations, it is entirely unnecessary.

Calvacade Scout Ducats Go On Sale

THE sale of tickets for the Calvacade of Scouting show sponsored by the Delaware Valley Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will start today by the 3800 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers, registered in 151 units throughout the Council area. The show, which will be a panorama of Scouting in action, will be presented on May 13-14 in the Blue Valley Farm Show building on the Bangor - Pen Argyl Highway.

T. K. O'Sullivan, chairman of the ticket committee announced that the Scouts will be able to earn numerous prizes as premiums for ticket sales during the period of the sales campaign. Each Scout who sells 10 tickets will receive a Jubilee neckerchief slide. He will receive an additional prize for each 10 tickets he sells: 20 tickets, a Scout folding cup; 30 tickets, a waterproof match box; 40 tickets, a pocket cable saw; 50 tickets, a pathfinder compass. A Scout tent will be awarded to any boy who sells 100 tickets.

A special prize for any boy who sells 500 tickets will be a free trip to the National Jamboree in Colorado Springs, and a visit to Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, N. M.

An additional feature of the campaign to promote the Calvacade will be the designation of a "Mystery Home" in various areas of the Council. Any Scout who sells a ticket to a "Mystery Home" will receive a new bicycle.

The Scout Unit will also receive commissions based on ticket sales. For all tickets paid for by May 14th, the closing date of the show, the unit will receive 10 percent, and for returns made between May 15th and 20th, 5 percent. The top Pack, Troop and Post in each district will receive an additional 5 percent commission.

Calvacade tickets will sell for 75c each. All children under 8 years of age will be admitted free if accompanied by their parents.

"We are most anxious to stimulate ticket sales," O'Sullivan said, "so that we may best accomplish the basic purpose for our Calvacade of Scouting, to portray to the public, the full scope of the Scouting program and its objective of character building and citizenship training."

Rev. Park's Easter Message

(Continued From Page One) eternal destiny. Most of us have already died at a very early age, for at our baptism we were baptized into Christ's death, that we might share in His resurrection. Now by the sacraments of the Church and by our trust in Him as an utterly dependable person we are already living His new kind of life—we in Him and He in us.

The weight of the glory that has fallen upon us is a terrible and wonderful thing, for the sword of God's love shall pierce us through and through, and the relentless of God's will shall break our pride at last to make us perfect after the pattern of His Son. And this we most surely know that sorrow and suffering and death will come to each of us.

But in our sorrow it shall be Christ's sorrow with which we grieve, and with Christ's tears our eyes shall run. In our suffering it shall be Christ's pain which we suffer, and there-by share in His Passion, for in Christ's wounding mankind was healed. And in our dying, that last and cruel defeat of our humanity, most wonderfully of all we die again. Christ's death and find in it the Victory; not ours, but Christ's in whom we have lived our days.

For He has set before us a kingdom built in such light and glory as passes all our dreaming now. That sun which lights our day shall shine no more, and old time itself shall cease to flow when God brings this universe to its end. But we shall be alive, and most gloriously and wonderfully and perfectly alive, for we shall be in God and with God and with all the company of Heaven. And looking back from that high vantage to this life here, we shall know that to us who were in Christ it always was Heaven, that in all our experiences here He was always with us, carrying the heavier part of our load, leading us step by step home, till at our death we saw Him face to face, and knew then He was no stranger but that which we had loved and yearned for in our deep hearts since first our life began.

Fisherman Usher In Trout Season

TROUT SEASON in Pennsylvania opened at 5 a.m. today and local and area fishermen and women have been looking forward to this day for quite some time.

When the announcement of spring is made many anglers start digging into the depths of the house for the "old" rod and reel and head for the backyard to make a few practice casts. Then talk about the big one that got away from them last year and of all they caught during the season is heard near and afar.

Several hours before the season starts they head for their favorite spot loaded with worms, live bait or artificial flies; wearing hip boots or waders and carrying landing nets of all sizes and descriptions and of course the rod.

Great Sport All in all they cannot be blamed for their action for trout fishing is a great sport. To the fisherman it is his time with nature, breathing in the early morning air, filling his body with a healthy feeling and his mind is clear of all trial and tribulations.

He is not bothered with the boss and work is a word that he vaguely remembers or thinks of. He is at peace with the world and all that is in it except for the trout.

With Monroe County streams being stocked with ten percent more trout this year the returns should come in rather early.

Brookheads Creek with 10,000 added this year should be the heaviest creek fished, as is the case in past years.

Other creeks of the county stocked this year were the Big Bushkill, Middle Creek, Pohopoco Creek and Pensyl creek. To all of you, young and old, who left a warm bed and were "on the water" before the sun came up today The Daily Record hopes your fishing was very good.

Stroudsburg Lady's Aunt Dies At 88

MISS Bertha Tobin, 88, died at the Mannix Nursing Home at 11:30 p.m. Thursday.

She had lived with her niece, Mrs. G. E. Shanley Sr., 519 Brown St., Stroudsburg, for the past 16 years.

Born in Addison, N.Y., she was the daughter of the late Richard and Bridgett Hawkins Tobin.

She was a member of St. Matthews Roman Catholic Church, and the Altar and Rosary Society of the church.

She is survived, in addition to Mrs. Shanley, by another niece, Mrs. Thomas Leonard, Stroudsburg, and several other nephews and nieces. Funeral services will be held in Addison at the convenience of the family, and interment will be in Addison.

Employment Office

Counseling Done In High Schools

By Jim Shafer THE Stroudsburg Employment Service office has completed the larger part of its counseling program in area high schools for this school year, said John Dougherty, local office manager.

Dougherty explained that the high school program is only one phase of the counseling program, which last year gave 147,453 counseling interviews to about half that number of persons throughout the state.

A total of 11,199 job placements of high school students were made by the Employment Service last year, of whom 9,099 were graduates and 2,100 were school dropouts, according to Dougherty. The local employment officials pointed out that 3,000 of the placements were high school students who had become counseled by Employment Service counselors.

During 1959 approximately 27,000 students from 675 high schools in Pennsylvania were counseled.

Advise Available Dougherty explained that expert employment counseling help is available in the local office without charge for persons seeking work who have problems in choosing, finding or holding a job. Employment Service experience has revealed that persons who need counseling are mainly young people, handicapped persons, veterans and older workers.

The main purpose of employment counseling as practiced by local office counselors is to help gain enough knowledge of their interests and abilities and the nature of the world of work so that they can choose a vocational goal and the steps to be taken in reaching that goal. The ideas of a goal should be definite enough that the person counseled can still keep them in his mind in case circumstances require a temporary change.

The employment official pointed out that the local office employment counselors limit themselves to their function of assisting people to choose, enter and progress in suitable work.

To do this the counselor must know the applicants as people, and this involves knowledge of many things: temperament, interests, work experience, training, aptitudes and the many social, economic and psychological factors which go into job adjustment of an individual.

Who Needs Employment Counseling?

Dougherty said that persons in the following conditions need it: 1—Inexperienced with no vocational choice, 2—experienced, but wants to or must change occupation, 3—desires training and wants help in determining kind and how much needed, 4—needs services of another agency to increase employability, 5—has a personal problem in getting or holding a job, 6—needs help and information to make a decision on a new work area.

Dougherty said, "The first thing to be done in the employment counseling process is to recognize the nature of the vocational problem."

Pertinent Information "The counselor next relates pertinent information on employment, occupations, training and services available through other agencies to what has been already learned to formulate a vocational goal and plan steps to achieve occupational adjustment with the cooperation of the person being helped.

"Finally, the person is prepared to be referred to and placed in a suitable job, one that should be at his highest level of ability and for which he is suited by interest and temperament."

Dougherty emphasized that it is well to remember the importance of personality factors in choosing a vocation. Many people succeed or fail in jobs because of personality factors rather than whether they do have the skills or abilities to do the work.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Too much, too soon can be as bad as too little too late—and you'd better watch it. The arrival of summer in the midst of winter has everybody a little off balance and they immediately started trying to do everything at once:

Get a suntan, rake and roll the lawn, get down the storm windows, play eighteen holes of golf, and join the kids in an after-supper game of tag. I'll bet there are some sore muscles this morning and small inclination to do anything but groan when they bend over to pick up the morning paper.

If any of them are up at 5 a.m. this morning to go fishing, I'll be surprised. But fishermen are a breed apart and utterly unpredictable.

And speaking of unpredictable—the blast was yesterday afternoon and the reactions ranged from scared to mad to startled, depending on the reaction of the driver between the car and the boom.

But after the initial indignation had faded a bit and the Easter weekend traffic started pouring into town, most townspeople agreed that the faster that Thru-way gets through the better.

With only one exit from the South Side—we're liable to get bottled up permanently with the only way to reach Main Street by way of Godfrey's and back by the Long Woods road.

But that's crossing a couple of bridges that already have too much traffic on them and maybe we'd better relax and enjoy Easter before trying to envision what it will be like on the Fourth of July.

David Garis Is Baptized

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Garis of Roysford was baptized on Sunday at the Christ United Church there. He has been named David Wayne. Mr. Garis, better known as "Barney," is a former resident of Stroudsburg.

Attending the christening were Miss Flora Garis and Mrs. Mary Price of the Stroudsburgs.

Friendly Club Sponsors Recital At St. Paul's

A music recital was sponsored recently by the Friendly Club of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Craig Meadow, with Jay Sleep as program chairman.

Richard Matlock, organist, played "In the Garden" and "How Great Thou Art" as prelude. Mrs. Aaron Smith served as devotional leader, speaking of Jubal, the first musician, a descendant of Cain.

Danny Rahn played "Viennese Refrain" as a piano solo; Donald and Alan Kochera played an accordion duet "Blue Violets," an original composition written by their teacher, Ivor Petersen. Joanne Hamlen and Nancy Fritz played "Over the Rainbow" as a piano duet; and Miss Janice Wildrick, accompanied by Richard Matlock sang "I Wanna Be Loved by You."

A vocal quartet including Donna Hamlen, Janice Wildrick, Paul Wildrick and Joanne Hamlen sang "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" Stanley Smith did a series of songs, "Children for Jesus," "America the Beautiful" and "Hymn to Man" on the trumpet. Organ solos by Darlene Gehris "Always" and "Silver Moon." Nancy Aver played "Deep River" as a piano solo.

Larry Edinger, organ, "Bless This House," Alice Anne Andrews, "The Hallelujah Chorus," piano; Danny Rahn, piano, "Dark Eyes"; Joanne Hamlen, Nancy Fritz, piano, guitar duets; Janice Wildrick, soprano, "A Wonderful Guy."

Ronald Kochera played as an accordion solo, "La Spagnola," and "The Lonesome Night in the Year" by his brother Alan; Stanley Smith and Paul Wildrick, trumpet duet, "German Waltz," "Organ at Twilight" organ solo, Darlene Gehris, "Valse," piano solo, Nancy Avery; Larry Edinger, organ, "We Three," Alice Anne Andrews, piano solo, "Spring Gardens."

Before starting on a vacation trip by car, take along several sleeves cut from old garments. Then if it is necessary for the driver to make emergency car repairs, it is easy to slip these on and hold them up with rubber bands to protect sleeves of coat or shirt.

Music Study Club Studies Excerpts From Opera

The Music Study Club of the Stroudsburgs presented a program of "Excerpts from Opera" at the meeting this week held at the home of Mrs. Ann George, White Heron Lake.

Mrs. George, program chairman, outlined the story of the operas to be heard and a biography of the composer. The program was illustrated by members:

"Flower Song" by Gounod from "Faust" sung by Mrs. Margaret Imb with Mrs. Lucy Quig as accompanist; Overture from "Carmen" by Bizet, piano duet by Mrs. Quig and Miss Helen Jolisk; "Habener" from Carmen, sung by Mrs. Marjorie Barnes with Mrs. George as accompanist; "Micaela's Air" from "Carmen" was sung by Mrs. George with Miss Jolisk as accompanist; Air from Puccini's opera "Tosca" was played by a string trio composed of Hans Buedicker, pianist; Hans Rohlf, violinist; Mike Finelli, cellist.

Closing number was a piano trio, "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart with Mrs. Lucy F. Quig, Eleanor Bender, and Miss Helen Jolisk.

Mrs. Lorraine Toner presented the study of the hymn-of-the-month, "Welcome Happy Morning" with text by Vernantius Fortunatus and tune "Hermas" by F. R. Havergal.

Mrs. Lucy F. Quig, first vice president, presided at the business meeting when a report was given by the nominating committee composed of Mrs. Ella Powell and Mrs. Doris Cramer. Election of officers will be held the second Tuesday of May at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Barnes, Bryant St., Stroudsburg.

Plans were made for attending the conference of the Music Federation to be held at the Warwick Hotel, Philadelphia, May 4, 5 and 6.

Mrs. Dorothy Dunn, chorus director, announced the next rehearsal for April 21 at 7 p.m. Mrs. Ann Herman and Mrs. Dunn served on the refreshment committee.

Auction To Benefit Church Building Fund

An auction sale of household goods will be held at the Scioto Schoolhouse on Friday, May 6, 7 p.m. Proceeds from the sale will be placed in the Sunday School Building Fund of the Christ Hamilton Church.

Concurrently, a bake sale will be staged. Joseph Starnier, West End auctioneer, has offered his services and will be in charge of the event.

Members and friends of the Hamilton Church are urged to donate as many household goods as possible to insure the success of the sale. Donors are requested to contact Willard Shoemaker, President of the Church Joint Council, for listing of the goods to be placed on sale, and for possible delivery arrangements to the Scioto Schoolhouse.

The annual Poppy Sale was announced for May 26-28 with Mrs. Henry Baustien in charge. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Achterman and her committee.

The Women's Guild of Zion United Church of Christ will meet on Tuesday night at 7:30. Theme of the program will be "Disciplines for Meditation" with Mrs. Fred Quig as the leader and six members taking part in the discussion: Mrs. Ernest Angemyre, Mrs. Kenneth Rasley, Mrs. Donald Gilpin, Mrs. Harold Cleaver, Mrs. Milo Kresge and Ruth Lender.

John Tanner To Be Baptized

John William Tanner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Tanner, Sr. of 10 N. Third Street, Stroudsburg, will be baptized at two o'clock on Easter afternoon in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

John was born on November 26, 1959 in the General Hospital. His mother was the former Patricia Elaine Granville. Mrs. Dorothy Strauss will serve as baptismal sponsor with the parents, Pastor William F. Wunder will administer the sacrament.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Zion Guild Meets Tuesday

The Women's Guild of Zion United Church of Christ will meet on Tuesday night at 7:30. Theme of the program will be "Disciplines for Meditation" with Mrs. Fred Quig as the leader and six members taking part in the discussion: Mrs. Ernest Angemyre, Mrs. Kenneth Rasley, Mrs. Donald Gilpin, Mrs. Harold Cleaver, Mrs. Milo Kresge and Ruth Lender.

John was born on November 26, 1959 in the General Hospital. His mother was the former Patricia Elaine Granville. Mrs. Dorothy Strauss will serve as baptismal sponsor with the parents, Pastor William F. Wunder will administer the sacrament.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Using your gravy ladle when filling muffin pans cups with batter for muffins or cup cakes. Usually one scoop is just enough to fill the cup right.

To prevent blisters when working with garden tools, sand the handle with a light sandpaper, then rub with linseed oil.

Analomink PTA Hears Of Highway Safety Study

Analomink—A report of the meeting of highway safety for the children of the Analomink School was given by Principal Harry Anton at the Parent-Teachers Assn. this week.

Officials of the Stroud Union School district, the State Department of Highways, highway engineers and the township supervisors met to consider the problem and recommendations of Sidney Bloom, highway engineer, will be studied by the township supervisors for action in the near future.

John Haddon, speech therapist, spoke on "Handling Speech Problems in the Public Schools" in which he stressed articulation and intonation.

"Children cannot speak correctly unless they first can hear and discriminate between sounds," he said.

Little is known of the cause of stuttering, which has two phases: the first when the child does not know he is stuttering and the second and more severe when he realizes his affliction and has an emotional reaction toward it.

He discussed other speech problems in the school and gave case studies to illustrate ways in which they could be helped.

Mrs. Annie Weidman presided at the business meeting when Mrs. Lorraine Oney, Mrs. Leo Achterman, Jr. and Mrs. Edward Feurer were named to the nominating committee.

Mrs. Miriam Pfeiffer reported on the bakeless bake sale to be held at the May meeting which will also feature a covered dish supper. Mrs. Nancy Treibler's room won the attendance banner.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Using your gravy ladle when filling muffin pans cups with batter for muffins or cup cakes. Usually one scoop is just enough to fill the cup right.

To prevent blisters when working with garden tools, sand the handle with a light sandpaper, then rub with linseed oil.

Local Lutherans Will Attend District Meet

Monroe County Lutheran Churches will be represented at the second annual Spring meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of the Easton District to be held in St. John's Church, Easton, on Thursday, April 28.

Theme of the meeting will be "What Does a Christian Woman Look Like?" Miss Helene Harder, a missionary on furlough from Japan, will be the featured speaker. Her topic will be "The Christian Woman in Japan."

A dinner at 6 p.m. will be followed by a fellowship hour before the meeting at 8 p.m. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Chester M. Walters, 1933 Lehigh St.

Mrs. Charles H. Ruoff, Stroudsburg, is chairman of the program committee which also includes Mrs. Edward Steinhauer of Stroudsburg.

Square Dance Today

Cherry Valley Grange square dance will be held tonight. The public is invited.

Smithfield PTA Plans Hoedown

The Spring Hoedown, sponsored by the Smithfield Parent-Teachers Assn. will be held on Friday, April 22, at 8 p.m. at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek.

Music for both round and square dancing will be furnished by the Seldenaides and there will be special entertainment, refreshments and baby sitters available.

The whole family is invited to join the party for which the school children shown above are getting prepared under the direction of Marlin Martz, physical education teacher.

Use a large discarded purse as a first aid kit when traveling. Put in it first aid supplies that will promptly take care of an emergency.

Top a slice of chilled pineapple with a scoop of strawberry ice cream. Sauce with sugared strawberries, using whole strawberries for the garnish.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"The Friendly Store"

A.B. Wyckoff

Tomorrow is Easter. To millions of persons, it is a religious holiday. To many non-Christians, it is a season. But to everyone, it is an important day . . . a wonderfully exciting day, that, when it does not center around an observance of Christ's resurrection, at least calls for a new hat . . . one's prettiest dress . . . and one's brightest smile. Coming after a long winter season, one is already in the mood to throw off old things . . . discard the drab . . . and "get on" with the new.

No one can say what Easter means to another member of his family, or to his neighbor. Most of us cannot actually explain what Easter means to us. There are some things that can never be put into words. Love is one. Friendship another. Any emotion, really, that combines fact and imagery . . . or that plunges deep into the heart.

Just this week, I stood before the racks of Easter cards in our stationery department, and pondered the various greetings. For a friend whom I do not know too well, but who has been very kind to me, I chose a rather formal little card with pretty floral decoration, and a verse that says thank you for being so nice, I wish I knew you better. For a timid friend who always wishes she might wear a daring hat, or do something offbeat, and feels frustrated because she just never actually does anything that isn't terribly conservative, I selected a silly card with a badly plucked but gaily colored hen on the cover saying, "DON'T BE CHICKEN—have a gay, mad Easter." For a Catholic sister whom I greatly admire, and who was wonderful to my son when he was attending a Catholic school, my choice was reverent. And for a friend who is hospitalized in the city, I purchased one of those giddy Slim Jims, showing an absolutely horrid, beat-up old hen, perching hopefully on a nest. "An old one," it says, "but it hasn't laid an egg yet . . . HAPPY EASTER." I believe it will make her chuckle. I hope so.

Thinking it over, I believe this one particular card says more than all the rest. It IS an old one, the Easter wish. It is also, to Christians, a blessed one. How could Easter be anything but happy, for those who believe? How could it fail to be a happy day even for non-believers, coming as it does at a season that marks the awakening of all things earthly as well as spiritual?

The other evening at our dinner table we were discussing the newspaper accounts of the two Madonna icons that have shed real tears this season in New York homes. There was a newspaper photograph showing a tear, large and glistening, spilling from the eye of the print, yet everyone who has actually seen it vows there is no water on the back of the reproduction. "I just don't believe it," my son declared. "It's impossible . . . a superstition."

I don't agree . . . nor do I see how anyone even remotely Christian could do so. IF we believe, as we say we do, have we forgotten that the Bible says ALL THINGS are possible with God? Have we forgotten about miracles . . . the raising of Lazarus from the dead, the turning of water into wine, the resurrection of Jesus? It could be that the Madonnas weep this season because God has a message for us . . . a reminder that He is all powerful. Man can send a rocket to the moon (if He permits) . . . but can he make tears flow from a paper print? If God would wish to do so, I have no doubt that He could . . . and, even in this sophisticated, brash age . . . WOULD. The question is not whether or not He has really done so . . . but whether or not we "believers" genuinely believe in Him and His almightiness.

Because I speak both to fellow Christians, and all my friends of other faiths this season, I echo the thoughts of the Slim Jim card. Here is the wish that has never yet laid an egg: HAPPY EASTER!

Mondelle Welcomed Back

MEMBERS of the Stroudsburg Chess Club Thursday welcomed back, to club activities, Louis Mondelle of East Stroudsburg who had just returned on a three-month tour of the Pacific coast.

While in the far west, Mondelle met and engaged the chess champion of the University of California and had an opportunity to study the technique of medal holders.

However, it did not help him too much this week. The returned traveler drew for his opponent, William P. Deering, and managed to hold the newspaper veteran to a tie game in their first contest. The second, however, was a Deering victory.

Mitchell Stackhouse took on club President John M. Price and it was freely claimed that the West Main streeter could not win in fifteen minutes. He didn't as he only took 13. Stackhouse won a second contest from the president.

Meanwhile, Club CBC champion Harold N. James routed the championship aspirations of Earl Weiss of Broad street.

Five states claim the title of the "Switzerland of America." They are West Virginia, Colorado, Maine, New Jersey and New Hampshire.

How Keystone Selects Prexy

"HOW Pennsylvania Helps Nominate A U. S. President" is the title of an article in the current issue of The Pennsylvania Voter, published by the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters.

It points out that state voters directly influence the selection by electing delegates of each party at the primary election on April 26.

These delegates go to the national conventions this Summer to cast the state's vote for a presidential candidate.

Democrats will elect 120 district delegates, four from each congressional district, and a like number of alternate delegates. Each will have one-half vote at the convention.

Republicans elect 60 district delegates, one from each congressional district, and the same number of alternates. Each has one vote.

The state party committees will elect the remaining delegates. The Democrat committee chooses 28 delegates-at-large and 28 alternates, each having one-half vote, while the Republicans name 10 delegates-at-large and 10 alternates, each of whom has one vote.

A candidate may file a statement pledging his support to the popular choice for a president, but this binds him for only the first few ballots.

It is not the practice for delegate candidates to file such a statement and they go to the conventions uninstructed.

Milo W. Howell, 82, Dies After Six-Month Illness

MILW. HOWELL, 82, of Saylorsburg, died in Monroe County General Hospital at 2:45 a.m. Friday after being in failing health for the past six months.

Born in Bushkill, he was the son of the late William and Anna Walters Howell.

He was a retired barber, and had operated a restaurant in Saylorsburg.

Mr. Howell was a member of the Hamilton Reformed Church, POS of A of Saylorsburg, the Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Co. of Saylorsburg, the Stroudsburg Eagles and the MORA Club.

He is survived by one daughter, Miss Ruth M. Howell, Saylorsburg, and two brothers, Calvin Howell of Stroudsburg, and John Howell of Brodheadsville, and a number of nephews and nieces.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home.

Officiating will be Rev. Aden Bohner and interment will be in Prospect Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday after 7 p.m.

Stroud Twp. Firemen

STROUD Township firemen were called out at 11:30 a.m. yesterday to extinguish a grass fire at 1540 N. Fifth St.

Four acres were burned in the fire which was on the property owned by Kenneth Carson and Harold Cleaver.

A garage nearby was threatened by the flames, but firemen kept a hose on the building preventing its being consumed.

The firemen were aided by a forestry truck which stopped to render assistance.

Three trucks and 25 men were used at the blaze.

Public Invited To Service

MT. ZION — The public is invited to attend the Easter Dawn Service to be held in Mt. Zion Methodist Church, high atop Mt. Zion Hill, Chipperfield Drive, at 6 on Easter morn.

Justin Feltham will deliver the Easter message. Special vocal and instrumental selections will be presented.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE between being in business and doing business!

The difference shows up in your profits!

When you're IN business, you have things to sell. When you're DOING BUSINESS, you're selling those things and making money. You know that you have to DO business to stay in business.

That's where your advertising comes in. A directory listing is fine... it tells people you're in business. But a Daily Record Classified Ad shows your customers what you have that's new and different and exciting... shows them that you have what they want right now. Want Ads not only tell them, they sell them. And when your customers are sold, you're doing business.

When you want to do business, use the Want Ads... they make the profitable difference!

What To Tell Child Slated For Surgery

Second In A Series

"IN most cases, the truth is less frightening to a youngster than what his imagination can invent."

This basic advice is offered by the Monroe County Heart Committee to parents faced with the problem of preparing a child for some unpleasant form of medical treatment or surgery, whether it be for a heart condition, tonsils, or anything else.

"You may not do away with his fears completely," the Heart Committee advises, "but you can help him to face them. His morale will inevitably reflect your own outlook. If you are sympathetic but not tearful, explain honestly and calmly what is wrong, and tell him what must be done to change it, you can help him develop a sound and healthy attitude."

For that, it isn't necessary to spell out all the details you learned from the doctor. "Your child need be told only as much as he can understand at his age, and as much as is necessary to prepare him for the immediate future. You can add details as they become timely."

Face Them Directly

The purpose of giving the child information in advance about events that are shortly going to happen to him is "so that when he faces them directly he won't be shocked or feel that he was tricked. It is usually advisable to let him share in the planning, on his level."

Discussing the actual hospital stay, the Heart Committee says, "If the child is very young and this is his first separation from his family, he may be afraid that you are deserting him and that he will be hurt in some way he can't understand or prevent. He may also feel that this is punishment for being naughty or disobedient."

It is up to the parent to offer reassurance on this point and, even before the child reaches the hospital, to prepare him for the time when the parent will not be there.

On the positive side, the Heart Committee notes, there are good things to tell the child also:

1.—That although he is ill, a way has been found to help him get better. The doctors and nurses are his friends and whatever they do they must do to help him get better.

2.—That if he must have tests or surgery, you want this to be done because you love him, and

Track Betting Discussed At Ministerium

Joseph H. Small discussed pari-mutuel betting at harness racing tracks at the close of the monthly meeting of the Monroe County Ministerium this week in First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg.

Wyckoff and Small discussed the economic issues of the proposal which will be on the April 26 primary ballot in this county. Both are opposed to the proposal to create a track here.

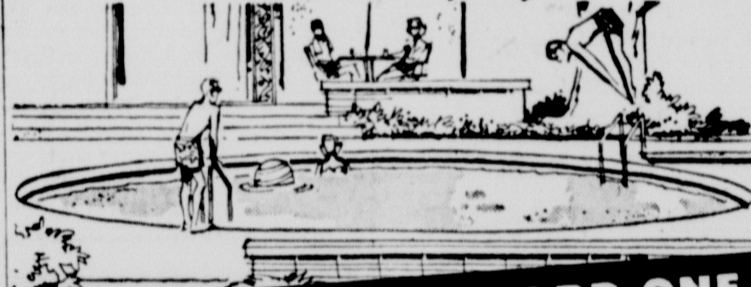

Rev. Robert Zuch, president, showed a printer's proof of the Monroe County Directory of Churches, to be distributed throughout the county shortly.

Emphasis was placed on the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile which will be at East Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Friday, May 6.

It is the only way for him to become healthier and stronger.

3.—That even though you want him home, he will get well so much faster in the hospital with the doctors and nurses right there to care for him.

Good Friday

THE Good Friday Liturgy was read in Christ Episcopal Church, 200 N. 7th St., Stroudsburg, from 12 noon to 3 p.m. yesterday. The Rev. Charles A. Park, rector, was assisted in reading the liturgical offices by Dr. Frank Sillis and Mr. John H. Parker, parish layreaders.

Father Park preached two sermons: "The Two Trees" at 1:15 p.m., and "The Thirst of Christ" at 2 p.m. The Good Friday Liturgy is based largely on the morning and evening offices as found in the Book of Common Prayer. And the popular name of the day "Good Friday" comes from the medieval Church of England, for in the name we are reminded of the blessings that have come to us from the Cross of Christ.

Action On All Fronts:

National League Stands Idle Following Three Days Of Play

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

THE National League took a day off Good Friday after three days of action that produced 341,809 paid admissions, a new manager in Philadelphia and six men hitting 500 or better.

If there was one development that stood out above all others in the first few days it was recognition that Chuck Dressen had taken a firm hold in Milwaukee.

The appearance of Lew Burdette in the bullpen and the quick hook for Warren Spahn on opening day was a solid hint. As soon as Chuck hit Philadelphia for a weekend series, he announced that Spahn, too, would be in the bullpen if needed against the Phils. Juan Pizarro was out there Thursday.

Philadelphia had its largest opening crowd in two years, 32,038, to see Acting Manager Andy Cohen make the right moves and beat Dressen. Frantic shifting of pitchers and pinch hitters finally brought up Joe Koppe. His single off Johnny Logan's glove won the game in the 10th inning.

Gene Mauch takes over as boss this weekend.

Pittsburgh, regarded as a singles-hitting club without much power, led the league with a .333 club batting average, mostly on the strength of the 13-0 romp over Cincinnati Thursday afternoon. Roberto Clemente, the Pirates' right-fielder, is way out there with a .714 average and six runs batted in for two games. Dick Groat is hitting .625.

Cal McLish, a 19-game winner at Cleveland last year, failed in his first outing for Cincinnati, lasting less than three innings. However, the Reds are happy with Billy Martin's 500 average and the 429 hitting of rookie Tony Gonzalez, the new right fielder.

San Francisco's new park brought a flurry of conflicting reports. First, the wind was so tricky it was believed that nobody would hit a left field homer. Then Thursday night Ernie Banks hit a grand slammer into the cross wind and over the fence. Willie Mays, incidentally, is rolling along at a 500 clip.

The Chicago Cubs hoped for new power from Frank Thomas and they got a sample. After going hitless in seven trips, Thomas hit a three-run homer off Los Angeles Larry Sherry Wednesday night and came through with the winning double off the Giants' Billy O'Dell Thursday night.

Los Angeles won a couple of one-run games and was shut out by the Cubs' Glen Hobbie. After the shutout, Manager Walter Alston benched center fielder Don Demeter and called on rookie Tom Davis in a search for more punch.

St. Louis was the only non-winner, dropping three straight, 3-1, 6-1 and 3-2. The pitching wasn't bad, but nobody has been hitting.

Team Practice Set

THE Tobyhanna Signal Depot softball team will practice Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the Stroudsburg playground.

For His Big Test:

Sime Wins Quantico Dash Event On Way To Olympics

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Big Dave Sime—who holds two world records but never has won a national title or competed in the Olympics—started the long road back by clearing the first obstacle on the road to Rome Friday in the Quantico Relays.

Sime, a Duke pre-medical student, won his heat in the 100-meter dash in 10.4 which equals the qualifying time for the Olympics. Although he holds the world record for both the 220-yard and 200 meter dashes (both 20 flat), he has been plagued by a series of leg ailments all through his career. A pull kept him out of the 1956 Olympic trials and every time he came up for a national championship he was out of shape.

Not to be outdone by Sime, Josh Culbreath, the 27-year-old timber topper, qualified for the Olympics, too, with a 51.3 second victory in the 400-meter hurdles. The qualifying standard for the 400-meter hurdles is 32.2. Culbreath had to turn on the heat in the final strides to nose out Lawson Smith of Morgan State College, who also was clocked in 51.3. So Lawson also qualifies. Of course, both Sime and Culbreath still must finish in the first three in the U.S. tryouts. If they get beaten by someone who hasn't equalled or bettered the standard, the U.S. Olympic Committee will have trouble on its hands.

Culbreath's effort was one of seven meet records which were broken. The former mark in the 400-meter hurdles was 51.8 set by Glenn Davis in 1958.

Manhattan's sprint medley relay team of Ron Colino, Kye Courtney, John Fernandez and Art Evans hit the tape in 3:34.1, shaving the listed record of 3:34.3 set by Penn last year.

Bob Barksdale of Fort Lee, Va., climbed 6 feet, 6 inches in the high jump to erase the record of 6-4 set by several jumpers. The other records were in relays.

The Baltimore Olympic club 4-mile team with Glynn Wood, Frank Pfaffing, Bryant Wood and Tom Rodda, got home in 17:17.7, breaking Penn State's standard of 17:29.4 set last year.

Alex Breckenridge broke the record for the 10,000 meters when he was caught in 30:54.5. Fred Kerr of Penn State set the standard of 32:39.2.

New Phils Manager Expects Winning Season From Club

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gene Mauch, new manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, said Friday—his first day on the job—"the only kind of baseball I like is the winning kind, and that's what I expect my team to do."

Sun-tanned, smiling "and really enthused and happy," the 34-year-old Mauch scoffed at pre-season polls that placed the Phillies in the National League cellar.

"I don't believe it," he told newsmen at International Airport after alighting from a Miami plane. "I think we will do much better. In fact, I know it."

Mauch obliged photographers by putting on a red Phillies cap handed him by John Quinn, the club's beaming general manager who hand-picked him for the job to replace Eddie Sawyer.

Sawyer quit Thursday, with the 1960 season just a day old. His only reason: "I just didn't want to manage anymore."

Mauch, hired for two years, indicated he'll play the game by eye and ear as he settles into Sawyer's shoes.

Mauch said over the past few years, while managing the Minneapolis Millers in the American Assn. and previously as a major league infielder, he had seen most of the Phillies ballplayers in action.

"These guys can play or they wouldn't be up here," he asserted. Mauch's first managerial job was at Atlanta in 1953 "but it was too early for me. I wasn't ready yet, though I learned a lot there."

In 1958 he got the Minneapolis appointment, after getting more experience as a player and bench jockey. He won the Little World Series that year, finished second last year.

When Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs hits his fourth home run in 1960 he will be the new all-time Cub leader. Gabby Hartnett leads with 231.

Soph Winner For Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Larry Beck, University of Houston sophomore from Kingston, N.C., sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the final green Friday to pull into a tie with Gene Dixon of Memphis State for the third round lead in the National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

The late rally by Beck gave him a 2-under-par 70. Dixon, the 18- and 36-hole leader, posted a 73 on the 6,081-yard par 72 Pine Forest Country Club course.

Beck enters Saturday's final round with a 73-69-70—212. Dixon has a 71-68-73—212.

Jackie Cupit, the 1958 winner from Houston, held third place with a 214.

Shot Record Up For Grabs This Weekend

SHOTPUTTER Barry O'Brien's newly recognized world record of 63 feet 4 inches may be in for another drubbing Saturday when three rivals compete on two fronts.

O'Brien himself will be inactive this weekend.

But at Santa Barbara, Calif., big Bill Nieder, the former Kansas University athlete and Dave Davis of California's San Fernando Valley State College, are slated to put in the 22nd annual Easter Relays.

At Los Angeles, Dallas Long is entered with the University of Southern California team in a dual meet with Occidental College.

Nieder, 243-pound officer in the Army stationed at San Francisco, has a put of 65 feet 7 inches to his credit and formal application for world recognition is in process. Nieder made the mark in the Texas Relays at Austin April 2.

On March 26, at the University of Southern California, Long put the 16-pound ball out 64-6½ just a few minutes after Davis had registered 63-10½. Davis was competing for the Southern California Striders in a dual meet with Southern Cal.

Both puts eclipsed the then official record of 63-2 set by O'Brien in 1956. O'Brien's 62-4, set at Albuquerque, N.M., Aug. 1, 1959, was officially entered in the books Friday when the International Amateur Athletic Federation met in London.

Applications for events up to and including March 31, 1960, were considered by the IOAAF. Apparently the March 26 feats of Long and Davis were not submitted in time for consideration.

Favor Perez To Retain Title Tonight

BANGKOK (AP) — World Flyweight Champion Pascual Perez of Argentina is heavily favored to retain his title Saturday night against Thailand's Pongee Kingpet in a match that is expected to draw 20,000 fans.

"I'm going all out for a knockout," said the 34-year-old champion who has been fighting as a pro since 1952. "I'll definitely win."

Perez will be making the 11th defense of the title he won in 1954 by outpointing Yoshio Shirai of Japan in Tokyo.

The champion has knocked out 26 while compiling a 52-1-1 pro record since winning the Olympic title in 1948.

Perez weighed 110½ pounds and Kingpetch 111 pounds, well within the limit, the day before the fight. It will be the second fight for Kingpetch since his jaw was injured last spring in an auto accident. In his warmup bout he knocked out Baby Ross of the Philippines in the fourth round.

Snead, Finsterwald Move Into Greensboro Open Lead

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Ageless Sam Snead, gunning for his seventh Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament victory, and Dow Finsterwald, seeking to repeat last spring's triumph here, moved into the 36-hole lead Friday with eight under par 134 totals.

At the halfway mark of the $17,500 tournament they were one stroke ahead of Bob Goalby who won his only major circuit event here two years ago.

They were but three of 13 men who shot in the 60's Friday as the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course yielded 29 sub-par scores and 10 others that matched the regulation 71.

Snead, who registers from White Sulphur Springs, West Va., shot a five under par 65. Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla., had his second 67. Goalby, playing from Cry-

Entry List Closing Shows 52 Cars In 500-Mile Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—With the entry list closing at midnight, 52 cars had been entered Friday in the 44th 500-mile race May 30 at the Indianapolis Speedway.

Tony Hulman, president of the venerable track, said eight or ten additional entries probably were mailed ahead of the deadline.

Cars were entered Friday by Myron E. Osborn, Denver; Bob Sorenson, Montebello, Calif.; Karl Hall, Orleans, Ind.; and C. O. Prather, Arcadia, Calif.

Bob Wilke of Milwaukee confirmed that the 1959 Indianapolis winning car will be driven this year by Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif., the 1952 national big car champion who has not raced here since 1952. A new car is being built for Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, who drove last year's winner.

The starters will be the 33 fastest cars in time trials May 14, 15, 21 and 22.

Weigh-In Held

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Alex Miteff of Argentina, weighed in at 202½ pounds and Dor Warner of Philadelphia at 191 pounds for their 10-round nationally televised heavyweight fight Friday night in Convention Hall.

We'll Admit This Is A Cockeyed Way To Illustrate A Tire Ad

There's a point behind it, of course, but let's dispel any suggestion that we're down to our uppers and need the business. As a matter of cold fact business has never been better.

But haven't there been times when you've found your footsies poking through the soles of favorite shoes without realizing how much wear they've had? The shoes, that is . . . not the footsies.

Tires can sometimes wear thin too, without your catching wise. And worn tires can be downright dangerous. That's the point.

Reading To Inaugurate 1960 Sprint Car Season On Sunday

READING — It will be the best in the Mid-West against the finest in the East — with no holds barred — Sunday afternoon (April 17) when USAC inaugurates its 1960 Eastern sprint car racing season at the historic Reading Fairgrounds.

Champion Don Branson will head a strong contingent from the Mid-West while Tommy Hinnershitz, who won a record seventh point title last year, will lead the Easterns in the 30-lap Reading Inaugural Sweepstakes.

Race director Russ Moyer has gathered together the classiest field in Reading's history for the program which begins with time trials at 1:30 o'clock. The first of four 10-lap heats will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

And as an added attraction, Branson, of Champaign, Ill., and Hinnershitz, of Oley, will head-to-head in a five-lap match race for the unofficial U.S. sprint championship.

Backing Branson will be such Mid-West stars as A. J. Foyt, runner-up in 1959; Bud Tingstad, third a year ago; hard-riding Eddie Sachs, a winner here last year; Jim Hurtubise, Wayne Weiler, Roger McCluskey, Jim Packard, Al Pias, Leon Clum, Carl Williams and several others.

And Eastern honor will be defended by Hinnershitz, Jiggs Peters, world midget record-holder Bobby Marshman, Cotton Farmer, national midget champion Gene Hartley, Chuck Arnold, Red Riegel, Al Herman and Bill Brown.

Strouds Hold Workout Today

STROUDS baseball team will hold a workout at Gordon Giffels Field, today starting at 2 p.m.

All interested players are invited to the drill which will be under the supervision of manager Frank Radier.

The Strouds are entered in the Blue Mountain League.

Dark Happy Over Change

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The resignation of Eddie Sawyer and the hiring of Gene Mauch to replace him as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday brought this comment from Al Dark:

"When Sawyer resigned, it was the greatest thing he ever did for me. Now I can come to the ballpark every day and concentrate on the game without somebody asking me, 'When are you going to take over the Phillies?'"

The veteran third baseman has been frequently mentioned as the eventual Phils' pilot since he was acquired from the Chicago Cubs in the off-season.

Canadensis Methodists Set Easter Sunrise Services

EASTER DAWN will rise on the worshipping congregation of the Canadensis Methodist Church as the members gather for the annual Sunrise Service at 6:00 o'clock in the sanctuary. The Chancel Choir will sing, "Easter Morn," and "Good Christian Men Rejoice."

The minister, Rev. John D. O'Neill will bring a meditation, "What Are the Facts?" and thus will be ushered in the joyous day of the Resurrection of our Lord, Jesus Christ.

At 9:30 a.m. the children, youth and adults of the Church School will meet together in Fellowship Hall for a celebration of the Easter message. The children are to sing special songs and recite passages of scripture related to the Easter Story. The program has been planned by the Commission on Education.

The service of morning worship will begin at 10:45 o'clock when George Bisset, organist-director, will play. The congregation will join in saying special prayers and readings for the celebration of Easter. The Junior Choir, Mrs. John O'Neill director, and the Chancel Choir will sing.

Mr. O'Neill will preach on "Joy, Hope and Witnessing." The sanctuary will be decorated with the traditional Christian symbol of Eternity, the Easter Lily. Nursery care will be provided for the care of children by Mrs. John Guida.

Berean Church To Hear Story

SUNDAY SCHOOL and the morning worship services will be combined tomorrow at Berean Bible Fellowship Church, 23 So. Sixth St. The service will be held in the church sanctuary with all ages attending except the nursery class.

The pupils have been asked to bring fruit to make gift baskets for the aged. Mrs. Edna May Canale will give the Easter Story to the assembly, using flannelgraph. A special selection will be given by the choir.

Other selections will be given by the local members. The pastor, George E. Herb, will address the school with a brief message.

At the night service, the Bible Study in the Book of Hebrews will be continued.

Sacrament At Keokee

THE Sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed in Keokee; Evangelical United Brethren Church, Paradise Valley at 9:45 a.m., and in the Pocono Union Church, Henryville at 11 a.m.

The pastor's sermon will be entitled, "If Christ Did Not Rise."

The Junior and senior choirs of Keokee Chapel will present an Easter Cantata in the chapel at 7:45 p.m. The children of the Sunday School will also take part in the later service.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your secret number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Easter Chicks Will Grow

ROBERT Stauffer, assistant county agent of the department of agriculture, said yesterday, "Easter chicks usually live and grow, if properly fed and housed, to full grown chickens."

He added, "Give the chicks all the feed they will eat and plenty of clean water to drink."

Five to 10 chicks can be given comfortable brooding temperature with a 75 watt electric lamp. Place a reflector over the bulb and do not let the lamp touch the floor or the litter.

The bulb should be low enough to allow the chicks to get ample warmth.

Goodness Is Theme Of Message

THE SENIOR Choir of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church will sing three anthems at the 11 a. m. service.

Rev. Roger C. Stinson will preach on "The Eternal Goodness" from the text "My God will supply every need of yours" from his glorious riches in Christ Jesus."

Rev. Ross Nicholson will assist in the conduct of the service and conduct the Junior Church program for the children during the sermon. A Church-time nursery for the younger children will be conducted by Mrs. William Lutz, Mrs. Roy Verkleij and Mrs. Harold Hildebrand.

More than 30 Easter lilies will be given as memorials and will add their beauty and traditional message of hope to the service. These will be arranged by the Altar Guild, of which Margaret MacLaren is the chairman.

At 7:30 p. m. Vesper Service, the Senior MYF will present a dramatization with slides entitled "The Triumph of the Vanquished."

The Presbytery Youth Fellowship rally is to be held at Brainerd Presbyterian Center Saturday, April 23, between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. Each youth is requested to take his lunch. Soda and ice cream will be provided and there will be a registration fee of 25 cents.

ANDY WILLIAMS comes to earth from "The Man in the Moon" on "Star Parade" at 8:30 tonight on ch. 3 and 4, and in his travels comes across Tony Randall, singers Lisa Kirk and Diahann Carroll, dancers Bambi Linn and James Mitchell, actress Gloria Leachman, actor Jester Hairston, and the Four Saints, song-and-dance group.

Steve McQueen stars as bounty hunter John Randall, and is asked by a 10-year-old girl to find her father, supposedly long dead, on "Wanted—Dead or Alive" at 8:30 p. m. on ch. 2 and 10. . . . Jerry Mathers, as Beaver Cleaver, brings a monkey home because "it's almost like having a baby brother," but his parents take a dim view of their new "child" on "Leave It To Beaver" at 8:30 p. m. on ch. 6 and 7.

The Junior and senior choirs of Keokee Chapel will present an Easter Cantata in the chapel at 7:45 p. m. The children of the Sunday School will also take part in the later service.

THE Sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed in Keokee; Evangelical United Brethren Church, Paradise Valley at 9:45 a.m., and in the Pocono Union Church, Henryville at 11 a.m.

Dear Abby

He's An Addict, Lady

Dear Abby: I have a serious problem. At least it's serious to me.

I am married to a man who smokes five packs of cigarettes a day! And if he runs out, he searches around for ash trays and garbage cans like a mad man.

I don't smoke and never have so maybe I can't appreciate what Dave is up against but, Abby, it is driving me out of my mind.

Dave gets up in the middle of the night for a smoke and he has to have one even before he is fully awake. You can't tell me it isn't hurting his health.

He laughs at the cancer research reports and says all they prove is that mice shouldn't smoke. How can I help without being a nag?

HELEN LORRAINE.

Dear Helen Lorraine: You can't help anyone unless he wants to be helped. It takes a combination of "will" power, "won't" power and "Supreme" power.

Dear Abby: We are an old couple in our 70s. All of our children are married, but now that we aren't able to do much for them any more, they have forgotten all about us.

We have to look elsewhere for someone to help us with our storm windows and jobs like that.

When they come to see us, which is very rare, they usually come about 10 p.m. when we are getting ready for bed. And if they come earlier, they stay only a few minutes so they can go somewhere else for the evening.

Why do children treat their parents like this, Abby?

JUST LONELY PEOPLE.

Dear Lonely: Because they don't know better. But when you are gone they will water your graves with their tears. Poor, unfortunate, short-sighted children!

Dear Abby: Two years ago I left my husband and children because I fell in love with a married man. I thought I couldn't live without him, so I gave up everything I had for him. But so far he hasn't given up anything for me. He still lives at home, enjoying married life with his family.

I sit home nights as lonely as can be. He calls me up and tells me how much he loves me, but he doesn't do anything about it. My whole family is against me. I don't have a soul to turn to for help or sympathy. There has been so much scandal and disgrace that I'll never be able to live it down. Please tell me what to do as I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

A FOOL.

Dear Fool: If your husband will have you, crawl back on your hands and knees. If he won't consider a reconciliation you'd be wise to try to start a new life for yourself. And don't invest any more time or hope in married men.

Dear Abby: So the bride didn't want anyone in a wheelchair to be Best Man at her wedding because she was afraid every eye would be on him, not her! Well, she would have collapsed at our wedding. It was held in the chapel of a Naval Hospital. Not only did the bride wear white, but so did the groom. Our Best Man was in a wheelchair and the groom was flat on his back on a mobile cart, encased from his armpits to his toes in a plaster cast.

BRIDE OF THE "PLASTERED" GROOM.

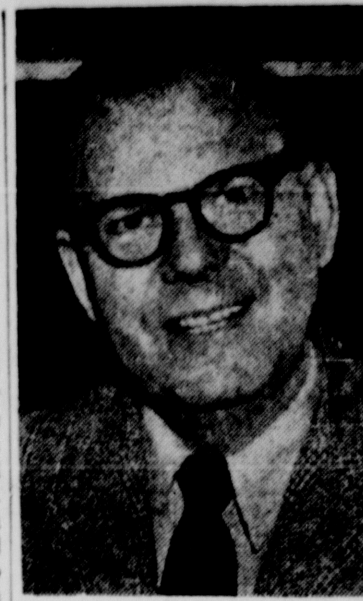

"What's your problem? Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-Ager Wants To Know," send 25c and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Scranton Mayor, Others Are Sued

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—The Diamond Colliery Co. yesterday filed a suit for an unspecified amount of damages against Scranton's mayor, police superintendent and public safety director.

The suit followed a brief shutdown of the colliery, on orders of Public Safety Director John J. Scott after two men were killed Tuesday night in a rock fall.

The mine closing was rescinded Wednesday, after idling two shifts. A state mine inspector reported he found "nothing reckless in the Diamond operations."

Tannersville Lions Set Charter Night Date, Site

TANNERSVILLE — The regular meeting of the Tannersville Lions Club was held at the Pocono Township Firehall, with the Ladies Auxiliary serving a ham dinner.

Plans for the Charter Night were discussed and the date and place were set. It will be held at Brookdale-on-the-Lake, May 14. The Club furnished glasses for two needy children in the area. Collection of glasses was started two weeks ago and at the present time, 39 pairs have been donated and this program will continue. Glasses may be left at the Tannersville Post Office.

The speaker for the evening was Alfred Sunberg, Professor of Social Studies at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Mr. Sunberg spoke on the history of Pennsylvania. Many points of interest were given about the history of Pennsylvania.

The next meeting will be held at the Fire Hall on April 26th at which time election of officers will take place and a member of the Bell Telephone Co. will be guest speaker.

Serfass Attends Guidance Parley

RAYMOND R. Serfass, who is guidance director at Stroud Union High School attended the annual convention of the American Personnel and Guidance Association in Philadelphia yesterday.

There are 4000 professional guidance and personnel workers, associated with schools, colleges and governmental organizations, at the convention. Under consideration at its sessions are current issues, reports of activities and research in the field of guidance and personnel services.

You never know
until you try...

You never really know what you can do until you try. No one ever whacked a ball without trying. Or hemmed a skirt. Or painted a picture.

Many people never even try.

It's that way with Faith, too. Many people never try to find it—by opening their eyes and ears, their hearts, their minds.

So they never learn the courage, the dignity, the hope that come with Faith.

But aren't these things worth a try? The first step is so easy: visit your Church or Synagogue this week. You can be sure you are always welcome.

Find the strength for your life—worship together this week.
